

(Children 9/13 year)

Original publisher: Corsiero Editore

Original Language: Italienisch

First publication: March 2018

Rights: Available

3.358

Cabrata UG (haftungsbeschränkt)
Editorial projects, Literary Agency

La ricetta della strafelicità

Matteo Razzini
Alessandro Ferraro

pp. 36, Ill. Col., 22X24 cm.

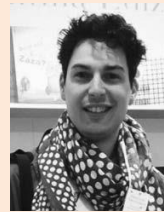

Text in English available.

The Ultra-Happiness recipe

This book is the story of a child who seems to be clumsy and incapable, except when, during the summer, he spends time with his grandmother cooking. In those moments she feels comfortable, happy and satisfied.

The grandmother's disappearance and a dreamlike journey in her search are the viaticum for the discovery of the protagonist's talent, through lively and fun rhymes, and terrifying nightmarish Gothic images.

Matteo Razzini's writing, meets the surrealist and magical flair of Alessandro Ferraro's images, giving rise to a register of rare expressive happiness from the very first glance.

show of strong appeal.

Matteo Razzini is born in Reggio Emilia, 1976, has several books to his credit: The amazing flight machine of Dr. Agenore Acquivento, Dora and the Gentilorco I get out so I get lost, from which he also drew a visual communication. What interests him most in the illustration is the relationship between writing and images. He works and lives in Rome.

Alessandro Ferraro Illustrator, painter. He obtained his diploma as an illustrator at the European Institute of Design. As an

